Writing an Annotated Bibliography

An annotated bibliography is a list of research sources which could include books, articles, documents, videos, web sites, etc. In addition to the citation, each resource has an accompanying paragraph which describes, explains, and/or evaluates each resource in terms of quality, authority and relevance.

Check the following links for assistance:

Writing an Annotated Bibliography
http://www.writing.utoronto.ca/advice/specific-types-of-writing/annotated-bibliography

How to Write an Annotated Bibliography http://www.lib.sfu.ca/help/writing/annotated-bibliography

Write Annotated Bibliographies
http://calstatela.libguides.com/content.php?pid=147626&sid=1254673