Consider Resources

Primary Resources:
diaries, letters, speeches, newspaper articles, documents, photos

Secondary Resources:
books, journal articles (scholarly vs. popular), theses, the Web

Check subject guides under:  Research by Subject → History → By Region → British

Find Background Information

Search QCAT by subject heading, for example:
  - great britain biography dictionaries
  - great britain civilization 19th century encyclopedias
  - great britain history dictionaries
  - great britain history 1714-1837 encyclopedias

Selected Titles:
  - Cambridge Historical Encyclopedia of Great Britain and Ireland  REF DA34 .C28 1985
  - Oxford Companion to British History (Online)
  - Oxford Companion to the Romantic Age: British Culture, 1776-1832 (Online)
  - Oxford Dictionary of National Biography (Online)
  - A Companion to Victorian Literature and Culture (Online)

Find Primary Sources

For information about primary sources, go to:

  Research by Subject → Primary Sources

There is an abundance of primary source material in Stauffer Library. The form will vary from topic to topic. It may be a diary, correspondence, letters, newspaper accounts, a law, a debate in Parliament, editorials, a photo, etc. from the period of study, as well as electronic, microfilm, and printed collections of these documents published at a later date.
1. Use QCAT

Search QCAT to find books, government documents and the location of newspaper and journal titles. To find individual newspaper and journal articles, see Indexes below.

A. Search by Subject or Keyword

You can locate items in the library by searching QCAT by doing a keyword Boolean search and then adding one of the special subject terms to your search: correspondence, diaries, interviews, pamphlets, personal narratives, sources,....

history and victorian and britain and sources
(britain or england) and women and diaries

Also browse subject headings and looking for these special subject terms.

Slave trade--Great Britain--History--Sources
Great Britain--Social conditions--19th century--Sources

Collections of primary sources often have the word documents in the title.

(britain or empire) and india and documents

B. Look up Historical Figures, Organizations, and Agencies...

If you know of a person involved in the event or from the time period, look under that person’s name as an author (or subject) for memoirs, diaries, and correspondence.

davies emily wilberforce william

Look up groups or organizations as an author (or subject).

great britain parliament

2. Use Journal and Newspaper Indexes Covering the Time Period

Newspapers are a good source of primary information. Stauffer Library has a number of newspapers from this time period: The Times (London), the Guardian (Manchester) and the Observer (London).

To find out what newspapers the Library has, search QCAT by newspaper title or search by subject heading, e.g. london england newspapers

We have access to the following full text electronic newspaper via the link, Databases.

The Times Digital Archive (1785 - 1985)
Periodicals published at the time are another type of primary source. To locate 19th and early 20th century periodical literature, consult the following indexes:

British Periodicals

A collection of facsimile page images and searchable full text for hundreds of British periodicals from 1680-1930.

Eighteenth Century Journals: a Portal to Newspapers and Periodicals, c1685-1815

19th Century Masterfile

Provides indexing to nineteenth century periodicals, books, newspapers, and government documents (both U.S. and U.K.). The main index is Poole’s Index to Periodical Literature (1802-1906).

Periodicals Archive Online

An archive of hundreds of digitised journals published in the arts, humanities and social sciences from 1802 to 1995.

The Wellesley Index to Victorian Periodicals

An invaluable bibliographic reference work of major 19th century British periodicals, published during the years, 1824 to 1900.

Freely available on the web:

British Newspapers, 1800-1900
http://newspapers.bl.uk/blcs/

Search 49 local and national titles for bibliographical references. To access full text, you will have to purchase a pass.

Nineteenth-Century Serials Edition (NCSE)
http://www.ncse.ac.uk/index.html

Online edition of six nineteenth-century periodicals and newspapers.

3. Use Government Documents

Publications generated by a government body, public records, reports and statistics are excellent sources of primary materials. Government Documents reference assistance is available Monday to Friday, 2-4 p.m. or by appointment.

Check out the House of Commons Parliamentary Papers (U.K) via the link, Databases, as well as the guide, United Kingdom Parliamentary Documents, at: http://library.queensu.ca/webdoc/gov/uklegislative.htm
4. Search the Center for Research Libraries

For information about CRL and how to borrow resources, go to:

Research by Subject → Center for Research Services

This rich resource library holds over 4 million books, journals, newspapers and other primary source materials from all over the world.

In one of their topical guides, CRL has gathered in one place sources on "Great Britain":
http://www.crl.edu/collections/topics/great-britain

CRL has also published focus guides on specific topics, e.g. England in Africa:
http://www.crl.edu/focus/issue-index

5. Search the Web

Search the web for primary source collections:

"primary sources" "anti slavery movement" Britain site:.edu [search using Google]
"primary sources" "anti slavery movement" Britain site:.ac.uk

Primary source materials and related websites can be freely reached on the web as well as the links below that lead you to websites for which the library pays.

Find Secondary Sources

1. Books

To find books on your topic in QCAT, think of the words that best describe your topic and then connect them with Boolean operators: AND, OR, NOT.

For a selection of books on the British anti-slavery movement, try this:

"anti slavery" and britain [within Keyword Boolean]

Select useful titles and look at the subject headings assigned. Use the subject headings to provide more keyword ideas or as individual searches themselves.

("anti-slavery" or" slave trade") and (britain or england)

Search by Subject

Slave trade--Great Britain--History
Antislavery movements--Great Britain--History
Social movements--Great Britain--History
Social change--Great Britain--History

Other useful subject headings for an overview of the historical period include:

Great Britain--Colonies--India
Great Britain--Economic conditions--1760-1860
Great Britain--History--Victoria, 1837-1901
Great Britain--Politics and government--1800-1837
Great Britain--Social conditions--19th century
Great Britain--Social life and customs--19th century

2. E-Books

The library subscribes to a number of e-book packages. Packages that are of interest to history students are: ALCS Humanities E-Book, Canadian Electronic Library, MyiLibrary, Blackwell Reference Online, Cambridge Histories Online, and e-Duke Books Scholarly Collection (via ebrary).
Records for some of these e-books are in QCAT but one should directly go to these e-book packages and search them. Access is via Databases.

3. Articles

Use the following to find scholarly articles:

→ Historical Abstracts: 1954 - present
→ Bibliography of British and Irish History: coverage varies

Also Useful:
→ Humanities and Social Sciences Index Retrospective: 1907 - 1984
→ Academic Search Complete
→ Google Scholar

To search indexes, click the tab Databases and enter title of the database.

Search Historical Abstracts

Historical Abstracts covers the history of the world from 1450 to the present. It indexes articles from approximately 2000 journals, selected books and dissertations.

Search: women and vote and britain
Modify search: women and (voting or suffrage) and britain (limit to subject terms)

To find out if Queen's subscribes to the journal, click Get It! @ Queen's.

Queen's Library subscribes to about 90,000 full text e-journals via various publishers’ packages. Search QCAT or Journals A to Z to find specific titles.

One collection that is of particular interest to history students is JSTOR, a digitized collection of articles from key periodicals (about 240 history titles are indexed), excluding the most current 2 to 5 years of a title. Access JSTOR via the link, Databases.

The following titles are a selection of journals that you may find useful:

English Historical Review
Historian
Historical Journal
International History Review
Journal of British Studies
Journal of Colonialism and Colonial History
Journal of Imperial and Commonwealth History
Journal of Victorian Culture
Nineteenth-Century Gender Studies
Nineteenth-Century Studies
Slavery and Abolition
Victorian Literature and Culture
Victorian Studies
4. Summon

Summon is the new Library search engine that helps you discover information on any topic from the Queen's Library collections. It searches books, journals, newspapers and provides you with several ways to narrow your search results.

Summon is good for broad, initial searches but it is not totally comprehensive. If you are doing higher level research, you will want to search relevant subject specific databases.

5. Book Reviews

In order to locate a book review, you need to have the following information:

- Author
- Full title of the book
- Year in which the book was first published

For reviews of history books, check the following sources:

- Humanities Abstracts
- Social Sciences Abstracts
- Book Review Index Plus
- New York Review of Books
- New York Times Book Review
- JSTOR (2-5 year lag in journal coverage)

Also check out the Research Subject Guide, Book Reviews, for additional resources.

Search Other Library Catalogues

If you don’t find what you need in QCAT and Summon, try searching other library catalogues, using WorldCat. WorldCat is a database of library catalogues around the world. It can help you identify materials in other libraries, which you may then request through Interlibrary Loan. To access, click on Find Information and then on Other Library Catalogues.

Request an Interlibrary Loan

Use interlibrary loan (ILL) to obtain loans or copies of items that Queen's libraries do not own. Click RACER on the library home page.

For more information, consult the brochure: RACER, Our Interlibrary Loan System.
Search the Web

Check our Search the Web guide at: http://library.queensu.ca/research/guide/search-web

http://www.google.ca/advanced_search?hl=en

...offers a variety of ways to structure a more precise search and improve the efficiency of your search results.

http://books.google.ca/

...searches for books on your topic. In many cases, a limited preview of the book is available - you can then search QCAT, the library catalogue to see if Queen's owns a copy. In other instances, the complete book is available in digital form from Google Books.

http://scholar.google.ca/

...searches for scholarly materials including journal articles, theses, books, preprints, abstracts and technical reports from broad areas of research.

...searches a variety of academic publishers, professional societies, preprint repositories and universities, as well as scholarly articles available across the web.

TIP: By searching Google Scholar through the Queen’s Library website the "Get It! @ Queen’s" citation linker is activated (which allows you to click through to the Library’s subscriptions). To import citations into RefWorks choose Scholar Preferences, then Bibliography Manager. Select RefWorks. Save Preferences.

Evaluate Websites

Anyone can create a webpage so it is particularly important to analyze and assess information that you find on the Web before using it in a research paper.

Go to our Evaluating Web Sources page for a checklist of points to consider when analyzing a web page:

How-to & Help → How-To Guides → Finding...Web → Web: Evaluate Cite Sources

Check our Citation and Style Guides page at: How-to & Help → How to Cite Sources

Chicago is the preferred style of documentation in history. Check QCAT for print copies in the library system.

Since there are many different citation styles, always check with your instructors to determine which style is expected for your courses.
