

Investing in Our Futures

CRDCN Annual Conference

Winnipeg, Manitoba

October 29-31, 2014

Call for Papers

Please join us in Winnipeg as policymakers, public-sector and academic researchers examine our recent past and emerging future. We will gather at the Forks of the Assiniboine and Red Rivers, next to the Canadian Museum for Human Rights, to contemplate where we are and where we are headed.

With this year's theme on "Investing in Our Futures", we wish to encourage evidence-based reflections on the society we want to create for ourselves, our families and our neighbours:

- What do the data tell us about the best investments we can make in the education and well-being of our children?
- How can we help young people prosper, and aid those transitioning back into the labour force?
- Are recent immigrants on track to achieve the same dreams as previous generations?
- Has economic turmoil derailed the retirement plans of seniors?
- How can we ensure that our healthcare system is as effective and efficient as it could be?
- Are the institutions that have supported generations of Canadians still relevant?

Non-thematic submissions on any topic that make use of, or are relevant to the use of, Statistics Canada microdata are also welcome as are proposals for full sessions or panels.

Deadline for paper submission is June 10.

Online submission and more details at:

www.rdc-cdr.ca/crdcn-2014-national-conference

For more information, contact Evelyn Forget at Evelyn.Forget@med.umanitoba.ca